Back in Outlook 2010, Microsoft introduced the Conversation View, which works something like Gmail's conversation threading. It's turned on by default in newer versions Outlook, but not if you upgraded from an older version where it was switched off. So, if you didn't know it was there, it might be time to take a look.

If I hear the phrase 'we just want to start conversations' one more time, I may just throw up. You've heard it before: 'conversations about Jesus,' or 'conversations about social justice,' or 'conversations about relationships,' or whatever. Yuck. Enough already. I say it's time to stop 'starting conversations' and start a little ACTION. So let's start focusing less on 'conversations' and more ...
