Reaping What You Sow. He who sows sparingly will also reap sparingly, and he who sows bountifully will also reap bountifully. – 2 Corinthians 9:6. An axiom is a governing principle or rule of thumb. Here are some examples: Birds fly, water is wet, fire is hot, and what goes up must come down. There are spiritual axioms too, including the one in today's verse: A man reaps what he sows.

Reaping What You Sow | Tony Evans

He says three times, you will reap what you sow. Now does that mean that you can't be forgiven of things in the past? No, God will forgive you and cleanse you of anything you bring before Him. And, listen, He will forgive anything you bring before Him in genuine repentance. It doesn't belong in my life. I'm sorry. I'm asking You to forgive me on the basis of what Jesus did at Calvary. And God will forgive you.

Charles Stanley - The Principle of Sowing and Reaping

You reap what you sow, more than you sow, and later than you sow. Today is the father of tomorrow. What we are today is the result of what we have been thinking and the way we have lived in the past. Those who act wisely today will have wisdom in the future to make wise decisions.

“Sowing & Reaping” Galatians 6:7-10 August 13, 2006 INTRO: My parents moved to South Florida in 1985 and my dad bought a little tree, just a sapling—maybe two feet tall. It was a tropical fruit called a lychee. Lychee is a little smaller than a ping pong ball, with a rough red skin.

“Sowing & Reaping” Galatians 6:7-10 August 13, 2006

And when you apply it to giving, it sounds a lot like some stewardship sermons I've heard. Ones where the message could be summarized by this: “You reap what you sow, so if you don't give to this church, we will not meet our bottom line and someday we will have to close our doors.”. I've heard that sermon before.

You Reap What You Sow: Sermon for October 26, 2014 ...

Jesus said, “By your patience possess your souls” (Lk. 21:19 NKJV). “By your endurance you will gain your lives” (ESV). II. We Must See Ourselves As Farmers. Those who work with living, growing things often know the most about patience and trust. Patience: Farmers get their reward only at the harvest, so they must wait for long-term results.
